

SGMScC 2012

Swiss Geoscience Master Congress

15th November

Studer Auditorium Bern

Program

The Swiss Geoscience Master Congress will take place at the geological Institute of the University of Bern one day before the SGM 2012. This event is a platform for ideas and meetings as well as a showcase for prospective students.

Master students from different Swiss universities offering an Earth Sciences MSc degree will present their Master theses.

The wide spectrum of Earth Sciences thematics studied at Swiss universities will be presented in four sessions. Further Master theses will be aswell exposed as posters.

We heartily invite BSc students to attend the congress. You will have the unique opportunity to see various opportunities offered to prospective MSc students in Earth Sciences at Swiss universities.
